O, LOVE!

BY CARINE.

O, love that thrills the silent heart,
And sends the burning glow
Of sweet delight along the veins,
Like lava's fiercest flow.

O, love that cheers when sorrow steals
The sunlight from the sky,
No grief so drear but can be borne
When love is smiling nigh.

O, love that warms the saddest heart
When blackest fortunes frown,
O, mystic voice, that comes like strains
From Eden's bowers blown!

Though deep in gloom of direst fate,
Bent with want and care,
The hapless mortal still may claim
This taste of heaven while here.

O, love, so pure, so dear, so sweet,
Fair as the realms of light!
Thou comest to make the rough way smooth,
To pierce the shades of night.

A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr, King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Editor and the Opinion of Others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

THE SILVER BILL PASSES THE SENATE.

We wish we had space to publish the bill in full. The bill is truly a Democratic measure, and is "a great victory" for the party and the people at large. It was not passed by party vote however, thirteen Republican Senators voted with the Democrats, realizing the financial depression which has become so general throughout the South and West since the smuggling through Congress of a bill in 1873, demonetizing silver and making gold only legal tender for debts. This infamous legislation has been felt more and more each year since it existed and has proven almost utter ruin to the farming interest of this country, it has increased the price of Government bonds, made money scarcer and reduced the price of labor. In fact, it is a solution in part to the universal depression in the agricultural interest of this country. This Silver bill which we refer to above, and which has recently passed the Senate will gradually relieve this depression, we believe, and redound to the public good generally. President Harrison, Morton, Reid and Sherman are a unit against the bill and hence makes it harder to become a law. Should it pass the House the President will no doubt veto it, but Congress has realized the needs of the people, at least the reformed element, and will we believe endeavor to enforce any measure to meet them.

A Grand Rapids paper says "there are many counties in Northern Michigan without a single church, and thousands of people growing up heathens."

The above stray paragraph is taking the rounds of the paper and is stated on good authority. That little morality and no respectability is to be found outside of the Republican party as the Northern Republicans teach for general enlightenment of the people seems to be irrelevant to the state of Michigan which is decidedly a Republican state Perhaps our Republican friends North may be mistaken in their ideas of morality and respectability or poorly posted as to the state of affairs in their Republican districts. At any rate bring around the plate for home missions again and we will show more liberality and genuine charity, not that we regret that such is the case for the sake of the respectability of our Republican brethren and other friends but we deplore that such is the case in an enlighten country.

If the farmers do their duty in the coming congressional nominations and elections, there will be more men in the next congress favorable to our interest. The interests of monopoly and agriculture are never in harmony. Each man elected to congress will be a friend to monopoly or a friend to agriculture. He cannot be both. Then how important it is that the farmers go into politics and see that the man who represents his district is an honest, able and energetic man, one favorable to his interests.

Since Speaker Reed issued his order closing the bar in the house of Representatives restaurant we have heard more or less about the early adjournment of Congress. That seems to be a very pertinent example of cause and effect.—New York Star.

"THE RAILROAD COMMISSION AND CHARTERED RIGHTS."

The following article appeared in the State Chronicle in the issue of Feb. 22nd, 1889. The argument contained in it has never been answered and we believe is unanswerable. In fact the article has the endorsement and backing of a half a dozen of the ablest lawyers who are not Railroad attorneys, in North Carolina. Read it and see if it does not brush away all the stuff about "chartered and vested rights" that Railroad attorneys harp on.

Col. Hinsdale's article published in to day's Chronicle maintaining that certain Railroads in this State will not be subject to the supervision of a Railroad Commission by reason of provisions in their charter is more plausible than sound, and will not deter the members of the present General Assembly, charged with grave responsibility, from performing an important public duty.

It will strike the average man as rather strange that the argument proceeds from a source (Col. Hinsdale is attorney for the Raleigh and Gaston and Raleigh and Agusta Railroads) interested in the roads for which the exemption is claimed, and which would rather have the advantage of the other roads in the State if the position were well taken. It is still more unfortunate for the writer that the very decision of the Supreme Court of the United States upon which he relies—the Georgia Railroad and Banking Co., vs Smith et al—is in favor of the Railroad Commission and against the road claiming exemption. And we are asked to infer that in our own roads the decision would be different.

In the Georgia case the charter after granting to the Railroad company the exclusive right to convey and transport persons and merchandise, provides that the charge for such transportation shall not exceed so much per hundred pounds etc. In the charter of the Wilmington and Weldon R. R. Co., (the old Wilmington and Raleigh Road,) after granting the same exclusive right of transportation and the power to erect toll gates etc., the company is permitted to charge and receive "not to exceed the following rates" and the exact language is as follows; "and they shall be entitled to receive and demand the following rates, to-wit; not exceeding 4 cents per mile for transportation per ton of 2.000 pounds," a careful perusal of the entire section will lead any impartial mind to the conclusion that the grant in each case was intended to confer, and does confer the same privileges and nothing more—that is the right to charge for transportation, and fixes the maximum rates, leaving the regulation of charges within those rates subject to legislative control.

Now in the Georgia charter, the Supreme court says in the case relied upon by Col. Hinsdale:

"It would require much clearer language than this to justify us in holding that, notwithstanding any altered conditions of the country in the future, the Legislature had in 1833 contracted that the company might for all time charge rates for transportation of persons and property over its line up to the limits there designated. It is conceded that a railroad corporation is a private corporation though its uses are public, and that a contract embodied in terms in its provisions or necessarily implied by them is within the constitutional clause prohibiting legislation impairing the obligation of contracts. If the charter in this way provides that the charges which the company may make for its services in the transportation of persons and property shall be subject only to its own control up to the limit designated, exemption from legislative interference within that limit will be maintained. But to effect this result, the exemption must appear by such clear and unmistakable language that it cannot be reasonably construed consistently with the reservation of power by the State.

In this same case the court says that such claimed exemptions, "seemed to have been framed upon the theory, which obtained very generally at the date of the charter (1833,) that a railroad was subject, like an ordinary wagon road, to the use of all persons who were able to place the necessary conveyances upon it. It was then generally supposed that, while the company constructing the road was the owner of the road bed, any one could run cars upon it upon payment of established tolls" This is about the truth of the whole matter. Fifty years ago the Legislature granted extraordinary privileges to Railroads, but they were never intended to stand forever "notwithstanding any altered conditions of the country in the future."

The same court has long ago decided that when private property is devoted to public use it becomes subject to public regulation and control, and it would require much clearer language than this to enable any court to say a State had granted away the right to protect its citizens from excessive charges.

The charter of the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad while a little more pronounced would receive the same construction and all the roads in the state can and will be brought within the supervision of the Commission to the extent that its regulations are just and reasonable and this is all that is claimed for it and all the power that is given it. But again: What is this claim Col. Hinsdale makes for these exempted roads? It is the right to make excessive charges with impunity.

Now, grant it for the moment that the Raleigh and Gaston road is exempt. What will be the result? This exemption is only claimed for the road proper from Raleigh to Weldon, a distance of 95 miles. But the same road owns and operates and controls from 250 to 300 miles of roads in this State additional to this, and which is undoubtedly subject to the control of the commission, the R & A. Line and the Carolina Central Railroad, and this additional mileage is in extension of the other and each dependant on the other. Now if the road from Raleigh to Weldon, relying on this pretended exemption exercise the right to make unjust or extortionate charges, then it would be the duty of the commission to so regulate the charges on the extended line as to make the entire charges just and reasonable. If we are met by subjections that would be unjust to the other roads, that is the subordivate roads, we reply: Let the parent or controlling road obey the law, and so it will do in fact. The only power given to this commission is to make just and reasonable rates, and such regulations should be and will be obeyed by all the roads in the State.

We cannot do better than to close this article by quoting the language of an eminent Judge of North Carolina, in an opinion delivered some years since, and calling the attention of the General Assembly to his words: "The rapid multiplication of these bodies, their resources and far reaching ambition, their ubiquity and rash combinations, all moved and directed by concentrated power, and talent, constitute them a distinct and almost independent and overshadowing power in our governments and in fact the great social and political problem of the age. Whether they shall control government or Governments shall control them, are questions that are forcing themselves upon public attention, and fast assuming practical importance. They should and will be maintained in the exercise of all their essential and legitimate powers, as necessary and useful institutions of modern civilization. But if in addition to the dangerous power of transferring all their property and franchises to any body and any where, it should also be held that their corporate powers are such contracts as put them beyond the reach of legislative check, or control in the interest of society, then the problem will have been solved. The Government, in my opinion will have abdicated its sovereignty, heretofore supposed to be inalienable, and society will be left without protection to Chartered irresponsibility.

WOMAN'S SPHERE.

The Miseducation of Women—Does It Pay?

A lady living in Norfolk, Va., has written to the World for advice which the World is wholly unable to give her. But her letter suggests a great wrong of so common and so persistent a kind, and one entailing so much of hardship upon innocent women, that we are moved to comment upon it.

The lady moves, as she says, in "the best social circles" in the Southern city in which she lives. Her husband's failing health has cut off the greater part of his income, and the wife earnestly beseeches the World to tell her of some kind of work that she can do in her own home by which an income of $10 or $15 a week can be earned.

This woman is what is conventionally called "educated." That is to say, she has been carefully trained in a more or less superficial way in a knowledge of text books and in all those "accomplishments" which are supposed to fit women for the "best circles of society." But her education has in no way qualified her to take care of herself. It has given her no skill in the art of providing for her own physical needs. It has not included instruction in any bread-winning work.

Such education is worse than no education at all. It makes the mind sensitive, increasing the capacity for suffering, while it leaves the woman helplessly to the contemplation of beggary or dependence as her portion should the income fail. It multiplies her wants, but in no way equips her with capacity to supply them It makes a helpless, dependent creature of her, to whom wretchedness is always an easy possibility.

The World can point this lady to no work that she can do because she has never been taught how to do any work. If she had skill of any kink she might employ it profitably. But in this age there is no work for dainty, unskilled hands to do.

It is scarcely less than a crime to educate women in this way, and yet it is the usual way.

In a recent copy of the Pittsburgh Post we read how "in Germany a good brewer commands larger wager than a Greek professor. * * * * A Gottingen professor has printed a statistical work on the alarming increase in the number of learned men in Germany, and shows that there are now entered on the rolls of the German universities 29,000 students. He shows that fully one-half of these hopeful youths are doomed to a life of poverty and disappointment. The vast majority of the 29,000 are expecting to become lawyers or doctors, or pastors or schoolmasters, or in some other way, either in private life or as servants of the state, to earn their bread by means of the education they are at present so laboriously acquiring."

The London Standard commenting on the professor's statistics, 'thinks that England and America may well consider this problem "Does it pay?" Man must have clothing, food and fire. He must earn and receive money so he may bub in the market place. What is called higher education need not destroy or prevent man's usefulness. He must prepare to live in this world—live well. To insure this he must acquire knowledge and skill. He must know how to do something, and do it so well that he draws—commands attention. He must prepare to serve the great institutions and industries of his age. Without this knowledge and preparation he is helpless.

The purpose of education is to fit its recipient for life. Education which does not include training in the art of procuring the the means of living does not fit its subject for life. It is not education but misguidance, whether for man or woman, rich or poor.

This has long been our view of our present system of education and it was the strong point we made in our speech at the closing exercises of Clement Model School a few weeks since.

Each day is a branch of the Tree of Life, laden heavily with fruit. If we lie down lazily beneath it, we may starve; but if we shake the branches some of the fruit will fall for us.—Longfellow.

ADDRESS TO THE DEMOCRATS.

Issued by the Democratic State Executive Committee.

ROOMS OF THE DEMOCRATIC STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE,
RALEIGH, N. C.

To the Democratic Voters of North Carolina:

At a meeting of the Democratic State Executive Committe, held in this city on the 10th inst., it was resolved that the Democratic State Convention be held in the city of Raleigh on Wednesday, the 20th day of August, 1890.

It will devolve on this convention to nominate for vacancies now filled by appointment of the Governor, a chief justice and one associate justice of the Superior Court for the first, fourth, fifth, eighth and tenth districts; also, judges of the Superior Court for the second, sixth, seventh and eleventh districts to succeed the present incumbents whose terms expire.

The convention is called to meet later than in 1888, to suit the convenience of the great masses of Democratic voters, so that a fuller representation, reflecting a more general sentiment, may be insured.

The Democratic party congratulates the people of the State upon the material and moral advancement made under the beneficent adminstration of affairs, and, having redeemed its pledges in the past, presents its claims to them for a continuance of that confidence to which it is justly entitled, feeling assured that they will be recognized and the interests of all classes thus subserved.

The term for which Hon. Zebulon B. Vance has been elected to the Senate of the United States will expire next March and the Legislature to be chosen this year will be called upon to fill it. It behooves us to see to it that no Republican is elected to the Senate from this State.

The committee most earnestly requests a thorough early organization in every township and locality in the State. It is essential that this preliminary work shall be done at once, so that we may be ready for an active, energetic campaign as soon as the convention adjourns. It will not do to assume that our opponents, because they are inactive now, have no life. They can organize with celerity and stand ready to take advantage of any apparent lethargy on our part, and if we wish to prevent opposition, we must demonstrate by our organization and strength, its futility.

In 1882 our confidence and apathy nearly resulted in the loss of the State and again in 1886, from the same causes the control of the House of Representatives of the State was lost to the Democrats and given to our opponents. Such a result must be carefully guarded against this year.

It is important that the various county conventions be called at such times as will best suit the masses of the party to the end that a full and free choice of candidates for the offices may be had and no discontent be engendered.

The Republican party of today is the same as in the dark days of reconstruction, and only awaits the opportunity to inflict upon our people the same disgrace and humiliation.

Its action in the Federal Congress indicates too plainly that it is the party of force, without respect for law or order.

The despotic usurpations of the petty tyrant who has been placed by them in the Speaker's chair, only to dishonor it; the deprivation of legally elected Democrats of their seats in both branches of Congress and the seating of Republicans in their stead, without the least vestige of right, for partizan purposes, and the efforts to perpetuate themselves in power by the passage of a Federal election law, by which the control of Congressional elections will be transferred from the State authorities to the hands of irresponsible agents appointed at the dictation of unscrupulous partizans at the national capital, thus striking a serious blow at our cherished institutions and the rights of the sovereign states, the reckless appropriation of the public funds for illegal and unnecessary purpose, by which not only is the surplus, left in the treasury at the end of Mr. Cleveland's benign administration, entirely swept away and a large defict created, but also the opportunity of giving relief from the burdens of taxation retarded; all admonish us that our only safety lies in a return to Democratic rule in the country and its continuance at home. Should they succeed in their aims we might expect Federal bayonets, to be stationed at the polls and a re-enactment of the scenes of 1868 in our own and our sister States.

Utterly indifferent to the interests of the Southern farmer, all its legislation has been at our expense for the benefit of other interests and other sections, and the only hope of the agricultural South to throw off the legislative shackles that has crippled our prosperity and bound us to poverty is to move forward on the lines of those great principles of relief which the Democratic party has steadfastly advocated. To obtain these ends the co operation of all patriotic men, who have at heart the prosperity of our agricultural and industrial interests, and the national welfare of our Southern people, is earnestly asked, and they are urged to enroll themselves beneath the Democratic banner.

Let every Democrat realize the responsibility that rests upon him and meet it. There can be no doubt of a grand victory if we do our full duty. Unceasing vigilance is the price which we must pay for success, but when we consider what defeat means to us, the sacrifice is small. Over estimate, rather than underestimate, the enemy and go into the fight determined to win it. All must prove equal to the emergency and when the first Tuesday in November shall have passed the victory will be certain and white supremacy, which is synonimous with Democratic rule. will be assured to us for a further term.

By the Committee.
ED. CHAMBERS SMITH,
Chairman.
B. C. Beckwith, Secretary.

NOMINATION IN THE THIRD CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

Mr. Editor: The Democratic Congressional Convention of the 3rd District is called to meet in Clinton on the 23d day of July. As the man put forward by that Convention will, in all probability, represent the District in the following Congress, it is the duty of all voters to give serious attention to the matter from this day 'till the nomination is made.

The constituency of this district is Agricultural to a degree unsurpassed, perhaps, by that of any other section of the State. Nowhere else, moreover, have the principles of the great reformation that will be wrought by the Farmers' Alliance seized a firmer hold than her; and in no other section the Alliance boast of more intelligent and patriotic members. For if justly at first the charge of ignorance was brought against us, the urgency and universality of agricultural depression on now crowding our ranks with the true yeomanry of the land, men of intelligence, lovers of peace, of country, and of liberty as expounded in the law and the traditions of the fathers; men so thoroughly conservative that they will attempt the restoration and preservation of their rights, not by means of seeds of revolution, but by the gentler means by quiet and determined reformation While to those who willfully or through ignorance, misunderstanding them, they seem an "inconvenient multitude," they are in fact the thoughtful conservators of our national welfare. Neither are they third-party enthusiasts nor "hay-seed anarchists;" if they are Democrats they will remain Democrats, seeking redress of wrongs through the organized Democracy Yet they are men who will not permit this "earnest to slacken into play." Their attachment to right is stronger than their love of meaningless party name. For their principles are inborn, inherited of fathers who received fixed notions of finance and liberty at the hands of that immortal apostle and preserver of equal rights, who, with strength might equal than that of Hercules, crushed at one stroke the bank of the United States, that mighty lion of monopoly, which then threatened all liberty and prosperity. The name of Jackson is dear to them, and when shall we find a more satisfactory exponent of Democracy.

We are endeavoring to establish "peace on earth" upon the just, and therefore enduring foundation of equal rights, and we are exercising "good will toward men." Therefore while I would say aught in disparagement of any man whose name has been mentioned in connection with the Congressional nomination, least of all would I advise the rejection or acceptance of any man solely on the ground of his profession or occupation. Yet, under the circumstances, the man who shall represent this constituency acceptably, must manifest certain defined characteristics. He should not be narrow-minded, as a fanatical enthusiast, but broad-minded enough to feel that this body politic is made up of many members, every one of which should receive due consideration. He should have liberty because it is the divine right of all men. He should love the Constitution because it is even now, if executed as it was in the beginning, the death warrant of all monopoly and oppressions. He must hate oppression. He must be a Democrat in name and in action. If he has legislative experience it is well; if he shall have a controling desire to represent the will of the people, that is better; if he cannot feel that a servant is bound by the expressed will of his master, his unfitness is at once complete.

It may be possible in this district to find such a man in any calling, but in view of the fact that the constituency of this district is so largely agricultural, and in view of the further fact that of the four hundred Representatives and Senators comprising the present Congress hardly more than a dozen are directly identified with agriculture, if such a man can be found in our own ranks why should any element of our population seek for him elsewhere? For who can more intimately know and appreciate our condition than one who feels the same oppression that we feel, whose intelligence at the same time enables him to comprehend the causes of our distress and its remedy? Or who shall make a more uncompromising advocacy of our cause than one who feels that he too is "tied to the soil. Nor would such a one make a less faithful representative of other just and responsible individuals.

From considerations such as these I place before your readers in the Third Congressional District the name of Dr. Cyrus Thompson, of Onslow county, who possesses in a striking degree the qualities above indicated. He is a farmer through choice, and is thoroughly devoted to his calling. He is a christian gentleman of finished education, full of energy and possessing the courage of conviction. He is one of the most forcible sprightly debators to be found in East Carolina. Should he be honored with the nomination he will reflect the highest credit upon his constituents, and as a member of the Fifty-Second Congress will display not only the ability but the intelligence and courage to advocate the cause and defend the principles of the "great reformation." He has acceptably represented his county in the House and in the Senate and retains the full confidence of his people.

Onslow.

RAILROAD INVESTIGATION.

The committee to investigate the W. & W. railway company adjourned its meeting in Raleigh on last Thursday after a three days session. The object of the investigation was to bring the company to terms in regard to the taxation of their road-beds in the State. They have claimed that by charter their road-bed property is exempt from taxation, but before the close of the meeting made a fairly liberal proposition which according to estimate will amount to about $20,000 tax per annum. The committee accepted this proposition. The R. R. in addition to the above proposition demanded charges and further privileges than they have hitherto had which was also assented to by the committee and was recommended by them to the General Assembly. That further privileges should be granted them, to the extent that their property should be exempt from any further taxation, regardless of any extension of their roads and increase of property we do not indorse in the least. A railroad company should be treated as an individual and should be forced to pay tax as such. The question of railroad taxation being again brought before the people was one of the immediate demands of the Farmers' Alliance, and we are glad that the committee has met with more success than former ones. The work of the committee is not yet done, they adjourned to meet again on the 2nd of Dec. 1890. Their work so far is estimated to be worth more than $100,000 to the tax payers of the State.

THE CAUCASIAN.

Entered according to Postal Laws at Clinton, N. C., as second class mail matter.

CLINTON, N. C.—JUNE 26, 1890.

Miss Mary Anderson, the famous actress, was married last week to Mr. Antonio Navario. The ceremony took place in London and was very plain and commonplace.

The National Democrat, in an article on N. C. politics and the Farmers' Alliance, says: The farmers have a grievance and they have the remedy. What is it? Drive the corrupt, extravagant, prodigal, fat frying, monopoly-cursed, gold-bought unscrupulous, hypocritical, sectional, Republican party out of power. Compel fair, unsectional honest revision of the tariff.

We take great pleasure in adding our voice to the recommendation of Col. A. M. Waddel, to the chair of History of the University of N. C., which appears in a recent issue of the Wilmington Messenger. Col. Waddell is one of the most scholarly and polished gentleman in our State, and we know of no one who could be more competent to fill the position or would reflect more credit on himself and the University.

We are proud to note that two North Carolina boys, Geo. P. Howell, of Goldsboro, and R. P. Johnson, of Asheville, both cadets at West Point the past year came out at the top of the list in their examinations, standing first and second respectively. This speaks well for North Carolina and more especially for the boys. After having been classmates with both of them we are not all surprised at the above. They were leaders of their classes at our State University and that means a good deal.

The commencement exercises of the A. & M. College took place on last Wednesday. The exercises consisted of essays from the students and short, well appointed addresses from many of the distinguished visitors in attendance. Dr. Sandlin, the chosen speaker to deliver the address, was unable to attend on account of indisposition. The display of handiwork and drawing by the students was said to be very creditable.

It is proposed to erect a colossal equestrian statue of Generals Lee and Grant at Cumberland Gap by subscription. $14,000 has already been subscribed. The proposition is we learn approved by some eminent men both in the South and North. While we would gladly witness the abolition of sectionalism in our country, yet we cannot concur with those, who wish to adopt this means to accomplish it. It has been said, that "the fox cannot mate with the lion." And we must say, though some may desire to see harmony restored by this means, yet we think that the vast majority of the South would fain see it consummated by some less inharmonious method than the erection of a joint monument to Generals Lee and Grant

A movement is on foot to erect a monument to the patriotic Dutch-Irish signers of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. Many contributions have been made already. The object is indeed a laudable one and an opportunity to assist in such a patriotic move should be eagerly grasped by every true son of North Carolina, and not left to the good people of Mecklenburg alone. Let every county in the State co-operate and revive anew in the present generation, by erecting a suitable monument, the spirit of patriotism in our forefathers and to keep ever in their memory the fact that in North Carolina American Independence had its birth.

Mgr. T. J. Ducey in a sermon preached in St. Leo's Chapel, in New York, on the existence of God, says:

"The existence of God is a mental fact. It is as capable of proof as are the chemicals in a laboratory capable of appraisement, or the astronomical knowledge acquired by human observation capable of belief. Among all men, in all ages, the existence of a supreme power has been recognized. No nation has ever existed that denied the existence of a God. People's ideas of the form and the substance of this supernatural power may have differed, but no nation has ever denied its existence and lived. Atheism has never established a nation.

"There has ever been a yearning in the human breast for something higher and above worldly conception and accomplishment. Like the man in the desert, we may reply to the question, 'How do you know there is a God?' by saying, 'Why, as I know when a man or a camel passes through the sands—by his footsteps.'"

"FRANKLIN" AGAIN HEARD FROM.

Mr. Editor: It is easy to give your conclusions—it is also easy to be rude and in Franklins opinion neither gives the best evidence of a great intellect. He hoped to hear you give the facts and the reasons for your position. If he may be pern itted—although void of sufficient wisdom to ask a "pertinent question"—to suggest that your readers are capable of drawing their own conclusions and this may even go so far as to conclude upon the simplicity of Franklin's questions or the editors good taste, politiness and good sense. Wonderful it is true as shown in your editorial clipping on 2nd page of your issue of June 19th. The request to ridicule as they deserve the simplicity of these 10 questions is refreshingly candid and gives Franklin room to be equally so; simple he certainly tried to make them, so simple that even the editor of this paper could comprehend them. He failed and he regrets it also, regrets that you called in "another horse" to do the job for you and if this kind editor will permit I will close as to him with the special request that he read and ponder well the 12 chapter of the book of Job, and the 2nd verse thereof.

And now for Barnarges, the Son of thunder, to whose tender mercies he commits this ignorant Franklin. The man who can learn all man kind the requisite amount of wisdom needed from Esau and Jacob's day to ours and who signs his name F. R. Cooper. Mr. Cooper get your Bible and read that over again and don't forget the part Laban plays. Please forget that you like Laban in the case have an interest at stake. Then in your conscience say if Laban did not keep his first 7 year contract with Jacob more faithfully than you did yours to answer Franklins 10 questions. Lets see if he did. Answer to question 1. "A Railroad Commission we'd have just such authority and legal powers as the legislature in its wisdom should confer upon it." Is that a fact? wonderful, truly astonishing. The idea is brilliant. Jacob on the discovery that Laban had paid for 7 years of toil with Leah instead of Rachel was not so much surprised, dazed, bewildered, by the legal difinition of the law of his section as I am by this. It does realy seem simply true. They can do it no doubt about it. "And they could also frame one that would be constitutional and of great advantage to the people." Please give us a sample copy of the one you will propose Mr. Cooper. In its broad wisdom it would do a simple minded individual good. Please publish it at once and let us read it over line at a time, slow you know. It would give us one thing you could not, Laban like, dodge as you did question one and in fact all the others asked. Don't now lets begin to call each other pet names as you do all through your attempt to answer the other nine. Franklin remembers being disgusted at that concinerous style by negro boys in his early youth. As you failed to answer the first question I will not now go into the others but ask you to give us this proposed law. You say it can be done. The burden is on the alleging party, prove it by the law as you say it ought to be and if you can't do it say so, let us get at the merits of the controversy and not be continally trying, as I think you now are to go off in any other road. As you seem to be fond of Bible quotations you can find some good reading beginning at the 24th verse of the 19th chapter of the Acts and I think it will especially suit your case up to and including the 28th verse, even in your wisdom and superior legal knowledge you too may need the votes of the dear people and you doubtless think you can get them if you can but induce them to shout "Great is Diana of the Ephesians while your real motive Demitrus like remains concealed.

FRANKLIN.

A CARD.

Mr. Editor: I ask space for a short card with reference to the much talked of petition from citizens of Sampson, to their representatives in the last Legislature, requesting them to vote for a railroad commission bill, having been requested by quite a number of gentlemen to say whether or not I received such a petition.

Replying to Senator Kerr in your issue of the 19th inst., you say that you signed the petition as President of the County Alliance, certifying that it was unanimously passed by a body representing 1600 citizens of the county, and that you instructed the County Secretary to foward copies of the petition to Messrs. Kerr, Stevens and Murphy, that you were in Raleigh soon after the petitions were sent, and that Mess. Stevens and Murphy had received their copies.

Let me say in all kindness, that I think there must be some mistake about this, so far as I am concerned, for if the county Secretary in obedience to your instructions signed by any member of citizens of Sampson requesting me to vote for a railroad comission bill, it certainly failed to reach its destination, for I have never seen it.

I write with no desire to participate in discussion, between Senator Kerr and yourself as to the advisability of establishing a railroad commission, my individual views on this as on all other subjects which came before us while in Raleigh, were secondary to the wishes of the people who elected me, and I believed they were in earnest when they said in their conventions platform of principles (article 7) that they were opposed to the creation of any new salaried offices, and I received no petition which would relieve me from this obligation to the party which nominated and elected me. The House Journal will show that I voted on all three readings for the Cook railroad commission bill, which provided for no additional salaries and hence no increased taxation.

WM. B. MURPHY.

The Purest and Best

Articles known to medical science are used in preparing Hood's Sarsaparilla. Every ingredient is carefully selected, personally examined, and only the best retained. The medicine is prepared under the supervision of thoroughly competent pharmacists, and every step in the process of manufacture is carefully watched with a view to securing in Hood's Sarsaparilla the best possible result.

We offer this column to our readers in which to discuss topics of interest and profit to them.—ED.

PRIMARY MEETINGS.

Mr. Editor: I propose the following plan for nominating candidates by the Democratic party of Sampson county. Let the voters of the various townships meet at their voting places on a day to be named by the County Executive Committee, and cast their votes for the legislation and county candidates and the persons receiving the highest number of votes be declared the nominees of the party.

By this plan I think we can get larger numbers out at the primaries and better ascertain the choice of the people. The Executive committees of the different townships can take the vote to Clinton, on a day to be named by the county executive committee and count the votes and declare the nominees. I have consulted several in my township and they all think this plan would be better than electing deligates. You will please publish this and if it meets the approbation of the people I hope it will be adopted by the county executive committee. Would like to hear from others.

THE WORST OF NEWSPAPER CRANKS.

[N. Y. Evening Post.]

The amount of notice which has been taken both at the South and at the North, but especially at the South, of the frantic railings of Colonel Elliot F. Shepard in his Mail and Express about the unveiling of the Lee monument at Richmond reflects positive discredit on the national character. We do not believe a single person of intelligence at the North who knows anything of the Colonel takes him seriously in private, or attaches any importance to his utterances, either sacred or profane. The one thing which makes rational men take notice of him is his possession of a newspaper, and the amount of notice this secures even for his wildest ravings is really a discouraging social symptom. It shows that the old primitive tendency to worship stocks and stones, and all sorts of idolatrous substances, still exists among us side by side with the Spencerian philosophy, and in the full light of the latest Biblical criticism. An ancient Jew squatted down in front of a brass calf and burning incense to it was not a whit more absurd a spectacle than a modern American lawyer, or broker, or editor, or minister gravely perusing and weighing the Colonel's printed lucubrations or listening to his religious exegesis, all because he owns a newspaper and can therefore put into it any tomfoolery he chooses to pay for. We are especially moved to make these observations by having sent to us the report of a whole sermon preached by the Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., yesterday, on Sectional Journalism," of which the Colonel's rant furnished the real text, though the nominal one was taken from the New Testament. Our advice to Mr. Dixon, and all other men with serious occupations, is to let the Colonel severely alone. The more they are excited by his follies the better he is pleased.

JUDGE BOYKIN AT WILSON.

Judge Boykin is one of the clearest headed men on the Bench. His charge to the juries, on the different cases, in summing up the evidence, impressed us as a model after which others might well take pattern. The people of that judicial district will have the pleasure of renominating Judge Boykin this summer and we but voice the sentiments of the bar wherever he has held court, when we commend them, in advance, for doing so.—Wilson Advance.

ALLIANCE NOTES, DISCUSSIONS AND THE DOINGS OF THE VARIOUS LODGES.

ATTENTION.

The County Alliance for Sampson will meet in Atkins' Hall in Clinton Friday July th. 4th at 10 o'clock a. m. It will be necessary for the delegates to have the new Pass Word.

Respectfully and fraternally,
W. E. STEVENS, President.

JOINT MEETING

At Red Hill, on last Saturday at a meeting of the members of Mt. Gilead, Red Hill and two more neighboring Alliances, it was resolved that the members of the order vote for deligates only who are in full sympathy with the order and such as will support in the convention men only who stand square on the Alliance platform.

GOSHEN ALLIANCE NO. 446.

Bro. G. A. Clute, the Present Business Agt., of Sampson County Alliance, has made a very afficiant and faithful servant. Therefore be it resolved that we the members of Goshen Alliance heartily endorse Bro. Clute. And ask that the Sampson County farmers Alliance in regular session in July re-elect Bro. Clute as our Business Agt.

WILLIAM SUTTON, Sec'y.

DEMANDS OF THE ALLIANCE.

Officially Promulgated by State President Elias Carr.

Whereas, The North Carolina Farmers' Alliance did, on its last regular meeting, on the 13th day of August, 1889, in the city of Fayetteville, set forth the following resolutions as the demands of the Alliance, to wit:

Resolved, With full confidence in the correctness of our position upon the question, we again demand of the General Assembly of North Carolina, the enactment of a railroad commission law, with full powers to the commissioners to regulate passenger and freight rates upon a just and reasonable basis, and with further power to investigate and take reasonable action with respect to damages or injuries to persons or property.

Resolved, That the North Carolina Farmers' State Alliance hereby enters its earnest protest against the policy of giving away the labor of our convicts, and demands of our Legislature the enactment of such laws as will hereafter prevent this outrage on the rights of the taxpayers of our State.

Resolved, That we demand such changes in our laws as will reduce the cost in litigation in minor causes, and as shall enlarge the jurisdiction of our justices of the peace.

Resolved, that we demand that laws shall be enacted to prohibit our public officials from receiving or using free passes or tickets on our railroads.

Whereas, The same having been submitted to and ratified by the requisite majority of the Subordinte Alliances, now, therefore, I, Elias Carr, by the authority vested in me as President of the North Carolina Farmers' State Alliance, hereby proclaim them officially the demands of said Alliance.

Given under our hand and seal this, the 4th day of June, A. D. 1890.

ELIAS CARR,
Pres. N. C. F. S. A.

E. C. BEDDINGFIELD,
Sec'y N. C. F. S. A.

What is a tattler? A vile leech sapping the life blood of human happiness. A black, greedy vulture, feasting upon the carrion of society. A busy-body who listens gleefully to anything harsh you may say of your neighbor, neither pettishly or in a joke, and then carries it magnified and patched up to suit himself, and pours it scorching hot into the ears perhaps of your best friend, and succeeding in getting him or her to say something equally as harsh, returns to you laden with his precious burden of strife and adds fuel to the smoldering fire.—Wilson Mirror.

"Tired All the Time."

Say many poor men and women, who seem overworked, or are debilitated by change of season, climate or life. If you could read the hundreds of letters praising Hood's Sarsaparilla which come from people whom it has restored to health, you would be convinced of its merits. As this is impossible, why not try Hood's Sarsaparilla yourself and thus realize its benefit? It will tone and build up your system, give you a good appetite, overcome that tired feeling and make you feel, as one woman expresses it, "like a new creature."

JEWELRY AND CLOCKS!

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local symptoms removes the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." WHEN A FRESH COMES IN THE Coharies and Black River.

I am building a large mill at "Hampton," near where the railroad crosses Black river, and am always prepared to pay highest cash price for lumber and Logs. Stop and give me a chance at your rafts. You can get your money, get on the train and get home the same day, and what is more important, you will get just and honest measurment. I hope by these inducements to stop nearly all of the timber that comes down the river. Stop and give me a trial.

Send us another half barrel.

Yours Truly,
ALEX. MCKINNON & CO.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Oct. 10th, 1889.
Messrs. J. C. Stevenson & Taylor:

GENTLEMEN:—The "Champion Food" you sold us has been given a fair trial, it is a success, and we are glad to add testimony to its worth. when fed to our horses we find it aids digestion, creates an appetite and the animal improves at once; it is a great conditioner, and a trial will prove its value. we have fed it to our cows and with them also it has proved a great digestive, both the flow and the quality of the milk has improved, the per centage of increase we cannot yet positively state. The food does all you claim in the line of tests we have made; we shall continue its use and advise all the owners of stock to give it a trial.

—We beg leave to state, in justice to the editor, that this week's issue has been left entirely in our charge. Any short-comings that may exhibit themselves, the readers will be charitable enough to attribute them to us and not to the regular editor, who has taken a few days to the Beach for recreation.
G. E. B.

—The thermometer registered to 101 degrees on last Sunday.

—Rev. Junius Millard, of Goldsboro, will preach in the Baptist to-night.

—Why does "K." not answer the able article by Hayseeder, published a few weeks since?

—Mr. Jos. E. Royal has placed upon our table green field peas which as yet are the first reported of the season.

—Crops continue fine and very promising. If Providence continues to favor us, next fall will show the finest harvest for ten years.

—Each day makes it more evident that the opposition to Judge Boykin before the next Judicial convention will amount to only a fizzle.

—The county Alliance will meet on Friday of next week. Never was it more important for there to be a full and enthusiastic meeting.

—The first huckleberries of the season were shipped from here last Saturday to Messrs. G. Thurman & Co., by Mr. L. P. Barbrey.

—North Carolina Building and Loan Association has loaned $1,300 in Clinton during this month and others will procure loans in July.

—Rev. Mr. Arnold, of Wilmington, held services in the Episcopal church on Thursday night. His sermon was very much enjoyed by his congregation.

—The earliest cotton blooms of the county this season were placed upon our table as follows: By Mr. J. H. Royal on Thursday, June 19th; by Mr. Johnnie Weeks, Friday, June 20th.

—The primaries for the State' Judicial and Congressional conventions will be held on next Saturday. Let every good man attend and see that good representative men are sent as delegates.

—Mr. Nathan R. Johnson, while attending the Methodist Sunday-School Conference, at Trinity church, on last Friday, dropped dead from apoplexy in the grove. A fuller account of his death will be found under Taylor's Bridge items.

—Read the article on a "Rail Road Commission and Chartered Rights" in another column. If Senator Kerr wishes to answer that or to say anything else to the public, our columns are open to him as they have been for more than a year.

—At Mrs. W. H. Fowle's, on Thursday night a very pleasant evening was spent by the young people of the place in a very social way. An ice cream supper was given by Mrs. Fowle, the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing and otherwise socially.

—The little two-year child of Mr. Henry Britt, which has been suffering for several days with cholera infantum, died on Tuesday afternoon. It was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Britt and hence they more deeply feel their loss. We extend to them our sympathy.

—We are informed by Capt. Wm. A. Johnson that the Rifle Team of the Sampson Light Infantry will take part in the contest at Wrightsville, Friday, July 4th. The first prize is $100. Second prize $25. We would be pleased to see "our boys" bring home the first prize.

—Read the article under "Forum of Public Opinion" on the manner of holding primary meetings, by Mr. Geo. R. Williams, of Newton Grove. The plan of voting directly for the various candidates at the primaries, would stop trading and "log-rolling" in conventions and insure the nomination of the choice of the party.

—We are gratified to have received a number of letters from this and other States congratulating us upon our answer in last week's issue to Senator Kerr's so-called defense. But we are more gratified still to have had our article endorsed by some of the oldest, best and most level-headed citizens of the county.

—Rev. Dr. Carmichael, of Wilmington, who has been spending several days in town, preached in the Episcopal church on both Sunday morning and Sunday night. His sermons, as is always the case, were very good. The congregation on each occasion was not very large on account of services elsewhere in town.

—A musical concert, under the management of Prof. G. W. Scott, of Suffolk, Va., will be held in the College building Friday June 27th. Vocal and instrumental music will be rendered by visitors and residents. Among other things, selections from "Mikoda" rendered by a chorus in Japanese costume. There is probably more musical talent in our town than has ever before been collected at one time, and all lovers of music should not fail to attend.

After all, the best way to know the real merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, is to try it yourself. Be sure to get Hood's.

MINGO.

Mr. Editor, we think we will have more candidates from Mingo than any other township in the county. N. A. Layton and J. D. Williams for representatives; Autry Baggett for sheriff; H. M. Warren and A. M. Tew for Register of Deeds, and, of course, we expect five or six for constable, and we are expecting some Independents for School Committee and Road Overseers.

Rev. L. Lee, who has been sick for some time, is now improving.

Mr. K. E. Layton has been afflicted for many years, but for the past thirty-two days he has been worse.

Mr. J. C. Warren has a few acres of the best cotton we have seen, and Mr. W. A. Warren has a field containing about thirty-eight or thirty-nine acres of the best cotton in this township.

Mr. R. M. Warren is a single man to-day but think 'twill not be so long. S.

We have cotton blooms and the finest crop of cotton for the season that we have ever seen. Wm. A. Warren reports some cotton blossoms on the 22d, and we predict that Mrs. B. W. Lee has some as she has some very fine cotton.

Mr. D. T. Bell, who has recently returned from his medical course at Baltimore, has accepted the school at Reedy Branch.

We are pleased to know that the able and learned editor of THE CAUCASIAN, has accepted an invitation to speak at Mingo Lodge Saturday evening, June 28th. We trust that the people will turn out and hear him, as he is an excellent speaker.

Thanks to the editor for his able reply to Mr. K's speech. Also we take pleasure in congratulating our friend, Mr. F. R. Cooper, for his answer to "Franklin." Do so again, Mr. Cooper.

The people of this township are divided to who will go to Congress. Some are advocating our talented McClammy, and yst there are several, who remember our young and learned C. B. Aycock, of Goldsboro, whom we think is well prepared for that position and whom we think is the farmers' friend. STUB.

HONEYCUTTS.

Died, June 22d, Mrs. Anna J. Tew, wife of Mr. Wiley Tew, after a long and lingering illness, passed from the scenes of earth to that bright land above, as we have reason to believe. She had been a consistent member of the Baptist church for many years. She left a husband, five sons and two daughters and a host of friends and relatives to mourn her loss, but their loss is her eternal gain.

Mr. D. W. Tew, we are informed, offers himself a candidate for the office of Register of Deeds for Sampson county. Mr. Tew has business tact, and it is reasonable to suppose will make a good officer. Z.

TAYLOR'S BRIDGE.

The cotton crop in this township is by far more promising than for many years.

Most of our farmers have finished plowing corn. The crop is very good.

Died, June 17th, of bilious fever, Lela I., daughter of Mrs. Eugenia and Mr. Henry B. Peterson, aged four years and six months.

On the 19th instant, of bilious fever, Willie A., son of M. P. and T. N. Matthis, aged seven years and ten months, departed this life.

"Little Willie lies sleeping,
While parents are weeping;
God, in his infinite love,
Has taken him above."

The Methodist Sunday School Conference for the Magnolia Circuit was held at Trinity church on Friday, the 20th. W. R. Newbury was President and A. J. Johnson, Secretary. The morning exercises consisted of reports from the several schools and an address by D. B. Nicholson, Esq. Six schools reported—double the number of last year. Most of them are in fine condition. During the recess an excellent dinner was served by the good women of the community. Up to this time it had been an occasion of pleasure and profit, and all were in anticipation of rounding up the day in happiness. But "man proposes and God disposes." Just as the congregation were assembling for the afternoon services, and the singing begun, Mr. Nathan R. Johnson was stricken with apoplexy in the grove and died in a few moments without speaking. It was indeed a heart-rendering scene. In the morning he had made quite an encouraging report of Salem Sunday School, of which he was superintendent, and to all human appearances gave every promise of a long and useful life. He was about thirty years of age and unmarried, and was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. His employer paid him what seemed to me a high tribute in these words: "He was in charge of my business at two places; I cannot replace him." Though summoned before the bar of God without warning, let us hope that he was ready.

A young lady gave me a piece of startling information to the effect that one of her neighbors had dug the bottom out of his well.

Mr. John ——— claims to have a cat that eats cucumbers. Maybe all cats do, and that's the music we hear from the back pailings instead of being the out-pouring or joyful cat hearts, it is the wail of the unrequited cucumber down in the deep recesses of the cat. Come to think about it, it looks reasonable.

Here is a poetical comment upon one of our beauties, handed me yesterday, by a critic:

She dresses in brah new clothes,
Designed to captivate the bothes,
Then down the avenue she gothes
When suddenly she stumps her tothes,
Falls down and hurts her pretty nothes;
O, what a chapter sad of wothes.

TURKEY.

This township claims the largest tree and the oldest dwelling in the county. The tree is in the field of Mr. Walter Moore and shades an area of ground about 315 feet in circumference; the dwelling is now owned and occupied by Mr. R. G. Morisey and was built during the Revolutionary war by Col. Dodd. At that time it was the finest dwelling in this section of the State.

The primary of this township for the State, Judicial and Congressional Conventions was held on last Saturday. The following are delegates: Messrs. R. G. Morisey, M. C. Blount, N. C. Faison, L. T. Blanchard and W. H. Colwell were elected delegates to the County Convention which meet in Clinton July 5th, to elect three sets of delegates to the respective conventions.

PINEY GROVE.

Mr. Marion Butler, Editor: Dear Sir—The issue of THE CAUCASIAN of the 5th instant was a gem replete with an excellent article on the greatest commander, statesman and christian gentleman of modern times. Lee's superior, if any, was in the person of George Washington; no other man was his peer, and while this issue recalled old and familiar associations of the past, the writer regrets that there are so many able men who unappreciate the principles and character of the great and good Lee. You richly deserve 3,000 paying subscribers to your most excellent journal, that is so pure and chaste in reading matter and so bold and courageous in defending the hard laborer's rights, and for your protecting care for the agricultural interests of the country. May you, your paper and its readers live a long, prosperous and useful life, and at last rest under the shade of the trees across the river.

Very respectfully,
W. J. CRADDOCK.
Hobton, N. C., June 21st, '90.

LITTLE COHARIE.

Mr. Editor—As most of the towns on the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad are being puffed more or less, I have decided to write and give you a brief sketch of the progress being made in the town of Roseboro.

There are six stores here doing business now and several other houses going up. The storehouse of Mr. D. A. Cooper & Bro. will soon be completed, which will give Roseboro a turpentine market, and will add much to the interest of the town.

Mr. F. I. McKenzie, one of Autryville's handsome young men, was in town this week visiting friends.

Dr. C. W. Corriher, who has just returned from Philadelphia, is in town this week.

The young men of Roseboro were delighted to see Misses Ellen and Willie Culbreth in town yesterday. This writer wants to see more young ladies in town. STUB.

Roseboro, N. C., June 20th, 1890.

LISBON.

Mr. Editor: I saw in a recent issue of your paper that the post master appointed at Garland is Chas. Robinson, who is a negro. The postmaster at Clinton was in error as to the name, the postmaster appointed is Mr. J. C. Robinson, of Ingold. R.

A Normal School for the Colored Race at Clinton.

G. W. Herring, a colored teacher of this county, and one of the most popular and energetic of his race, is endeavoring to establish a colored normal school at this place. He informs us that $400 has already been subscribed, but that $20,000 is needed to establish the school. His energy in the work and outlook for the better education of his race demands respect and endorsement from the white race as well as his own color. He tells us he expects to visit the principal cities North, as well as those of this State and Virginia, to solicit subscriptions and aid in any way to the enterprise. We sincerely hope him much success in his work for sake of the betterment of his race, and commend him in his undertaking to the liberality and co-operation of the public.

Sad Death.

On Friday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, was announced the sad death of Mrs. Ella Chesnutt, wife of Mr. Henry B. Chesnutt, of this place. Mrs. Chesnutt was a daughter of Mr. Jas. Moseley, and the wife of Mr. Chesnutt for about ten and one half years. She has been a member of the Baptist church for fifteen years, and was a good christian woman. She was thirty-two at her death and leaves a husband and three children. We extend our heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved husband and children and friends of the departed.

Autryville Dots.

Mr. Editor: We regret to chronicle the death of Mrs. Cherry Sessoms which occurred at her home in Little Coharie township, June 14, 1890.

She has for a long time been confined to her bed, and during the last few weeks of her illness, suffered the most excruciating pains, but there is a change in all things, and on Saturday morning at the ripe old age of 88 years and three months, "death, that grim monster who is no respects of person," with a gentle tap at her chamber door bade her spirit depart, and she, with a last adieu to all earthly cares and troubles, has crossed the river to a brighter, better and happier land; from which no travels, ever returns, where no farewell word is spoken and no farewell tear is shed. But our loss is her eternal gain, and we know that we should ever be submissive to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

Rev. Joel Fisher preached on June 15th, an eloquent and impressive sermon, which seemed to be appreciated by all. Rev. Wiley Page preached a very good sermon last Sunday at this place. "Text,—repent ye, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand."

Autryville is becoming quite popular, it seems, as a stopping place for preachers, as a trading point for all the good, old honest farmers, and those following all other professions, as here they always get full value for the money expended. And right here we would suggest to the young ladies that Autryville is a mighty nice place to visit, as those who have tried it can testify.

Misses Hattie and Jennie Carver, two of Cumberland's charming young ladies have been visiting Miss Maggie Gainey.

Mr. L. W. Strickland is filling up his neat little store with a good selection of millinery goods.

Miss Lena Sessoms of Roseboro paid us quite a pleasant visit last Sunday.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Jordan Sessoms, Miss Cornelia Sessoms of Hayne, to Mr. John Cole of Autryville, Dr. F. J. Cooper officiating. The attendance were as follows. W. F. Sessoms with Miss Ella Cole, Archie Spell with Miss Rosa Layne, Braxton Butler with Miss Lillian Cooper, Giliard Gainey with Miss Irene Cooper, F. I. McKenzie with Miss Maggie Gainey. We wish them a long and prosperous life.

Mr. B. L. Culbreth, one of Autryville's most popular courteous young men has been on a flying trip somewhere, we will not venture to say where, but think we can give a pretty good idea, as he brought back with him a beautiful and lovely bouquet of the rarest flowers.

Faison Notes.

(Special Correspondence.)

Mr. E. J. Hill, ex-consul from Monte Video, has returned home, after a three year's residence in South America. The Consul looks remarkably well, and entertains his friends by the hour, with reminiscences of his life abroad. On his way home, he visited England, Scotland, and Spain. Among other valuable acquisitions, he has learnd the Spanish language fluently, and is not lost among the mages of the French.

Now that the excitement of trucking has entirely subsided. The tide of politics is steadily on the rise, and the crowd of saloons, who daily were out the benches on front street, are getting much enthoused. The congressional outlook is the one, that now attracts most attention. Duplin county has a man whom she should support for the position, B. F. Grady, a man of ability, breadth, liberality and sterling integrity, a man who would do honors to his county and district, and State, and his beloved South, a man on whose record there is no spot, and a man whose knowledge of National Politics would be of great service in Washington. Let the sons of Duplin rally to the support of B. F. Grady, and let the Third District honor loyal, staunch Democratic Duplin, with the twelve hundred majority, by giving her what she has never yet had, the nominee for congress. X.

(Special Correspondent.)

WARSAW, N. C., June 16, '90.

Pursuant to announcement quite a a number of the citizens of Warsaw and vicinity met last Saturday morning, the object being to take some steps toward establishing a canning factory at this place.

Mr. O. P. Middleton being called on to preside explained the object of the meeting. After an enthusiastic discussion, on motion the following committees were appointed:

To ascertain the probable cost of machinery, buildings, tools, etc—Messrs. Thos. B. Pierce, A. W. Bell, J. F. Woodard.

On permanent organization—Mess. I. Brown, S. M. Carleton, W. H. Williams, J. A. Powell, W. L. Bell.

Adjourned to meet Saturday, July 5th, at 2 o'clock P. M. All who may be interested are cordially invited to be present at that time.

For the Campaign.

In many ways the coming campaign will be the most interesting one that the voters of North Carolina have seen in many years. It will be an educational campaign, and economic questions will be largely discussed. The State Chronicle, published at Raleigh, will be in the thickest of the fight to maintain Democratic principles, and uphold those measures that will secure relief for our agricultural population. It will be sent to any address one year for the low price of $1.25. Send money by registered letter, money order or postal note. Address

Cancer of the Lip Cured.

I suffered from Cancer on my lip that defied the skill of the best physicians of the State. I had it burned out, but the operation only made it worse, causing it to spread over more surface and eat deeper in. I finally had it burned off again, and used Swift's Specific S. S. S. to heal it up and drive the poison out of my blood. The effect of the Specific was magical! It healed up the Cancer entirely without leaving a scar as a reminder. This was over four years ago, and since then there has been no sign of a return of the Cancer. I will cheerfully answer any enquiries in regard to my case
ENOS YOUNT, Bradford, Ohio.

A Prominent Druggist Cured.

"Eleven years ago I was suffering from an attack of White Swelling. A great many prominent physicians attended me but failed to effect a cure. I commenced using Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), and after using it for a few months I was entirely cured, and since then have had no symptoms of its returning. I feel that the cure is entirely due to the curative properties contained in S. S. S. I can cheerfully recommend it as a medicine to all suffering humanity."

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles!

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumor. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents.

YE POOR CENSUS MAN.

"Pray what is your age?" said ye census man sage,
And ye damsel spoke never a word.
"Are you foolish, insane, deaf, hump-backed or lame?"
And she smiled at a thought so absurd.
"Do you powder or paint?" and her smile it grew faint,
"Or you snore, Miss, and have you cold feet?"
Ye damsel yet she spake not, you bet,
But ye man he lay dead in ye street.

A SAMPSON BOY

In the Mountains of Western North Carolina.

We chanced to secure for our guard one (Uncle Jimmy) who was familiar with the narrow paths leading from one settlement to another and the peculiar manner in which we should approach the mountaineers. In fact Uncle Jimmy was much of a mountain rough himself He said that we would find plenty of game, and those Western waters were teaming with fish. We took plenty of shooting irons and fishing tackle. When we wanted to take a hunt the driver was ordered to go to a certain place and pitch camp until all gathered. Sometime we were scattered for several hours. Our first sport was in killing bullfrogs, and I confess it took some effort on my part to rid myself of the predjudice against frogs and relish them as food. We took provisions as we thought sufficient for a week, but at the end of the 2nd day it was exhausted and we commenced cooking for ourselves. The worst trade connected with our trip was feeding our guide, Uncle Jimmy. The Blowing Rock was first visited, from here we took a circle in search of the red squirrel returning late in the evening. Nearly every point of interest on the Blue Ridge mountains was visited, and the whole country from there to the Tenn. line. The excitement was just enough to make it interesting and keep off monotony all the time. The first fishing was in the clear waters of the Watauga River where we could ride on the wagon along the road and see fish swimming in the bottom of the river. We feel in company with two other gentlemen who were out to spend a month in the mountains fishing and hunting. After spending some days in this section we went up the Watanga River and down the Linville several miles over rough roads to the foot of Grand Father Mountain by way of Watauga Hotel, and ten miles further took us over in Mitchell Co., where a company from the North has purchased twelve thousand acres of land in body which lies on both sides of the Linville River and from the foot to the topmost pinnacle of the Grand Father Mountain. Here we pitced camp and visited the mountains near the town, to give an idea of the work now going on in Western North Carolina.

Fifteen months ago, what is now Linville City was a dreary wilderness inhabited by wild beasts and hardly known to civilization. The Supt., of the company, Capt. S. T. Kelsey t ld us that they had commenced work with one hundred hands (all whites) and have kept them at work all the time since. They now want 200 more hands. The town incorporation has one thousand acres, through which stretches Linville Avenue one hundred feet wide for a distance of eight miles up and down Linville River. Parallel to this and at a proper distance is Carolina Avenue of equal dimensions. One year ago it was almost impossible to ascend the Grand Father Mountains, even on foot. To day it is accessible to the top by a Turn Pike Road eight miles in length, thirty feet wide, with an upward grade of one foot in every fifteen. It is a delightful drive, and from the top of the mountain, we had the grandest view that we ever beheld. Only two of our party went to the top. In the town proper is a delightful drive of one hundred miles of nearly level road. On each side is a beautiful park covered with the natural mountain shrubbey. Of this the under growth is being cleared off and in its place they are planting the finest of grasses.

This thousand acres as laid off in city style and the lots are for sale. It is perfectly astonishing to see the improvement that has been made in so short a time. When capital, push and industry are combined something is soon done. It is a certainty that a Railroad will soon be stretched through this beautiful place and the resources of Western North Carolina fully developed. Linville City will be one of the grandest summer resorts of this country. Capt. Kelsey very kindly gave us permission to fish in their waters. Here we were paid for all our trouble in preparing to visit the mountains. Our next point was the celebrated falls of Linville with a perpendicular fall of about 60 feet. The scenery around here was both wild and picturesque. From here we visited the cave over in McDowell county, which has never been fully explored Prof. L. Berje A. of Rutherford College and this writer penetrated it until our light would not burn, then we hastily returned.

This is a section that is almost outside of civilization and visited by few except Revenue officers. Once we were taken for such, and it would have amused you to have heard how fast we explained ourselves We found several grown people who could not direct us a mile from their homes. With them ignorance is bliss. While most of them were steeped in ignorance, we found the mountaineers compeartively a hospitable people. We went to the house of, and dined with the old woman who, as a test of her faith, prayed that the mountain might be removed from her front door. but just as she said before going to prayers it still remains

Here we were lost for a whole day and traveled over such road as I imagine Hannibal passed in his wonderful adventure across the Alps. The fishing, hunting and the novelty of camp life made the stroll over the mountains a pleasant one. We took along extra clothing to put on when convenient to church &c. In camp we had lots of fun. Uncle Jimmy our guide is far famed for his aptness in telling yarns

The rounds taken, we returned in time to join the normal which is now going on at Rutherford College. Sampson teachers I know several of you whom I would be pleased to see at this normal.

Respectfully,

A. M. BURBREY.

NEW BARBER SHOP.

When you wish an easy shave,
As good as barber ever gave,
Just call on us at our saloon
At morning, eve or noon;
We cut and dress the hair with grace,
To suit the contour of the face.
Our room is neat and towels clean,
Scissors sharp and razors keen,
And everything we think you'll find;
To suit the face and please the mind,
And all our art and skill can do,
If you just call, we'll do for you.
